Thank You, And Good Luck

Greetings fellow travelers. This is just a short note to say thank you for all of you that came out to the Rowdy Rebel “event” last year and who have followed this blog for however long that may be over the last 12 years. That said, the following principle seems to apply amongst the birthing pains of these modern Orwellian times:

Unfortunately, as times are changing, and much of what we’ve discussed and predicted over the years is coming to fruition and at least partial implementation, so too must we come to advance and change in our efforts and methodologies to not only communicate but freely express. It pains me to announce that due to a combination of shadow-banning, censorship, erasure, cancelation, disappearance, trolling, douche-baggary (and whatever other colloquialism is being used for the unframing, defamatory efforts being utilized in the castigation of lone folks like me), it is time to put this blog to rest.

The reasons for this are clear to the most controversial tellers of truth, to whistle-blowers, and to anyone that has had the hand of the internet gods reach out and smack them into oblivion. However, it’s certainly much more difficult to see or even believe in this blatant censorship among those merely searching for content, content that has already been scrubbed from even the ability to be found. As an example, I highly recommend watching the following before moving on, at which point my reasoning will be explained and alternatives will be considered:

It would not surprise me if this is removed... unless those behind the international crimes exposed here value this “news” video as positive outcome propaganda, as fear porn, or as the valued content/propaganda of the mass of alternative “useful innocents” we all are considered, the adage that there is no bad press coming to mind. Even our own rhetoric can be used to steer us in the direction of our own obfuscate destruction.

That said, here are my grievances that have led to this inevitable change, a simple list to justify this futile attempt of a declaration of independence from such corrupt platforms.

SHADOW-BANNING – It’s very difficult to explain just what shadow-banning is, but you certainly recognize it when you suddenly find your digital persona and works gazing out from within those digitally enforced shadows. When one cannot even pull up one’s own website (this one) in any of the popular (99% market-share) search engines, especially with such a uniquely, purposefully misspelled identifying title as realityblogger.wordpress.com, one recognizes that there is indeed an active problem. From these engines of algorithmic search terms comes page after page of results, none of which are connected to my site – the origin of the search term – bringing only the shadow of the website and title, but never the direct site. What does that mean? It means that everyone that has copied and actually given credit or links to my blog website are showing up in the search, but my actual site is not. This blog-site now exists only in the shadow of those that have linked and supported my works in the past. Of course, while a few clean and non-enculturated web crawlers certainly do bring up my site, collectively their market share is in totem less than 1%. I’m sure the trolls will link those search engines below to somehow appear to discredit me. Those not keen on or hip to this type of censorship, and even those that are, will of course continue to use these mainstream search engines, meaning those that censor truth-tellers, often without even knowing they use the same algorithms and blackballing pathos of censorships as Google, etc. So, the question arises once more... Would I not be crazy to keep doing the same thing while foolishly expecting any other result than that which has already befallen me?

UPDATE: I opened up my talk in Alabama with printouts of my Google searches, showing a complete ban of my own site, both the name and full website, on my own computer. I still have those printouts and the emails from other readers that also could not pull up my site. It now appears that Google has partially lifted the ban, perhaps realizing that not pulling up the site while searching the actual website is a bit ridiculous to justify? Whatever the case, I'm done trying to keep up with it and my blog numbers have gone from hundreds of hits per day to 25-50 a day for the last year because of it. Of course, the hard part for the average search engine user to understand is that, unless you already know my name or site name, you won't find it. If you don't know me or my site, you wouldn't be searching for me. But the banning is more topic specific — if you search for “CAFR School”, for instance, or “The Stockton Bankruptcy Lie”, titles only I ever used or published, as the exact titles of my blog posts, my blog will not come up in any way. However, the first result is this search brought up this: “Stockton Wasn't Lying—It Really Is Bankrupt – Ca – AllGov”. LOL! If you don't know me already, why would you search my name or exact website? You of course would not. Shadow-banning is more subtle than that. All my CAFR work is non-searchable, at least it has been for the last few months. Other exact titles are surprisingly findable, though not by the mere subject matter, only the EXACT title, which again, why would anyone be searching for that if they don't already know it exists? The banning is systematically conniving and trying to explain and justify it is the last thing I need right now. So please don't leave comments telling me I'm a liar or throwing myself a pity party. This shit is getting very real. Moving on...

HACKING AND REDIRECTION – Welcome to The Corporation Nation... at least, that's what my website (thecorporationnation.com), which displayed all my documentaries, used to say. Today, however, it exists only in memory — and on the Way Back Machine, of course. After enough people complained about malware and porn sites appearing with every click they made on that documentary showcase site, finally in frustration and helplessness I had to just take it down, so that no one else's pride or machinery would be harmed by it. I kept the domain name just in case I want more of the same abuse later on. Who knows...? Would it not be insane to reopen it and expect any different results?

YOUTUBE (GOOGLE) CENSORSHIP – It pains me to announce that Lethal Injection 1: The Story of Vaccination, which was posted in late 2011 and has had collectively over 800,000 views (on just Youtube), has been removed — disappeared, as if it never existed in the first place. This happened a few weeks ago, with no explanation. But that's not all, folks! For, like a death squad came and went in the night, every instance of Lethal Injection (1) The Story of Vaccination was also scrubbed, disappeared, canceled... in one fail swoop. Of course, I specifically asked people to copy and repost it, which they eagerly did, in hopes that when this type of censorship came, the movie itself would be somewhat insured against such total annihilation. I was wrong. We were right. Insurance is as empty as the hope and debt currency it was invented on; as spiritually devoid as the fiat nothingness it's formed by. Lethal Injection, both 1 & 2, are officially banned movies in the Youtube/Googlesphere. Makes me wonder, after 10 years, what could possibly be the reasoning now to pull such a fraudulent takedown? With Lethal Injection 3, the most important of all these films, coming out soon, would it not be a sign of insanity to attempt to post such a sequel upon that magical disappearing platform and expect different

EMAIL FRUSTRATION – My current email server (GoDaddy.com) labeled me as a spammer without informing me several months ago, so that all my emails inviting people to the conference failed in delivery. Why? Microsoft and Google algorithms control the vast majority of email success or failure in delivery. Needless to say, no one received a personal invite until I found the problem and begged Microsoft to forgive me. My crime? Sending out an email with more than one email as the destination. I would have to pay for that “service” and get a key to bypass Microsoft gatekeeping, though I’ve been sending thousands of emails for years in the same single session. Again, things have changed. And in this case, it would be insane to try and send a group email using my paid for GoDaddy mail account, simply because Microsoft’s virtual cock is shoved so extremely far up GoDaddy’s digitally compliant rectum. And Microsoft, apparently, only forgives a couple of times before a total banning of all email takes place. For three months all my personal, single emails were prevented delivery without knowledge.

So what should I do?

Here are my immediate and future actions as planned, for the moment, and how you can help support my efforts to overcome this strangeness...

THIS BLOG – The future of this blog is simple and mostly stagnant. It will remain here for your benefit for as long as the digital gods allow its inconvenience to them. I will only post here when one of my major video documentary projects or Red Pill Sunday School is newly posted.

MY VIDEO SITE – While I will continue to post or attempt to post at Bitchute and Odysee, I will not risk posting at Youtube anymore. They don’t need my help in erasing my whole channel, which of course, is really their property, not mine and not yours. As Bitchute is extremely problematic with uploads, I am currently only updating my “RED PILL SUNDAY SCHOOL” channel on Odysee. (Link: <https://odysee.com/@redpillsundayschool:e>) If you are looking for my most recent radio appearances and Red Pill Sunday School videos, then Odyssey is the place. Youtube is no longer reliable, fair, or reasonable.

FUTURE DOCUMENTRIES – I will be posting three major projects this year, finishing out my older documentary series so as to make room to start fresh (see NEW BOOKS below). I will post these for free, as always, at least on Odysee. When finished with these projects – Wagging The Dog 2, Lethal Injection 3, and my current Red Pill Sunday School video on the fraud behind UCC / UNIDROIT / STRAWMAN / REDEMPTION and the “change of status” gurus that are misleading people into a stateless international commercial hell, I will at that point put all of my documentaries, from The Corporation Nation series on, onto a portable drive or thumb drive, which will either be for sale or free with donation, depending on what I can accomplish with your help and support over the next year.

EMAIL LIST OR FORUM GROUP – Here I am unsure of how to proceed, considering the initial video at the top that you hopefully watched before getting this far. As this blog is practically invisible and cast in the shadows, I see no point in continuing writing upon it. It can disappear completely at any time into the digital nether. Therefore, my plan is to form an email list and/or forum that I can inform you of my new works and how to get them.

BLOG PRESERVANCE / NEW BOOKS – As many of you know, I have 100's of blog posts, many of them long enough to inhabit a small or medium book. And some of you know that I have 1000's of pages of unpublished works and research that have never seen the light of digital day. Therefore, I have decided that once my video productions are finished, I will be printing (or self-publishing on-demand) my most important works, taking my blog and implementing the information within into rewritten and amended PERMENANT books. How these become available to you is up to you. I can risk the print on demand model with such corporate horrors as Amazon, Barnes and Noble, etc., knowing that they have the power to remove my book at any time just as my other sites have been virtually disappeared and relegated to the shadows. But I wonder if you might be interested in helping me keep all my stuff private, as my current STRAWMAN book is? Let me explain...

PRIVATE MEMBERSHIP ASSOCIATION AS A CHURCH/MONESTARY – I am considering some type of fund raiser so as to be able to join one of the private membership associations (PMA) designed to help me start my own PMA. However, the expense is very high, especially for me. The reason for this is to form a private religious association, one that I can continue to write and print books (and films) that would be private and donation-based, or in other words non-commercial and outside of the US jurisdiction. My upcoming RED PILL SUNDAY SCHOOL will explain why I have chosen to go in that direction, as opposed to what many people are being fooled into, that of changing status and falling into international, commercial purgatory. This video is in answer to all that have asked about the “national” status, the “state assemblies” concept, and what I thought about it. Well, you might not like my answer, but you will certainly know why it is absolutely a fraud and why UCC and other uniform codes are not meant for good and moral people, only voluntary debt slaves. That said, the PMA model is the private path, existing without permission or incorporation, outside of the nation-state called United States and outside of commercial rules and non-governmental treaty authority. But I will need financial support. Once this happens, the sky is the limit. Everything we do can be done in private, without the preview or legal constraint of the FDA, the IRS, and all the other commercial corporations of the de facto United States. I will need to raise the membership fee, if possible, of $10,000+ in order to do it right, to join and get the support of the right people. I will take no part or profit from what is raised. It is only to gain membership into a PMA that is designed to support my own PMA. If you are looking for something to invest in for your own future as well as mine and my ability to bring together (associate) like-minded True-Christian people, then please contact me privately at (clint@strawmanstory.info). I will endeavor to pay back any unconditional gifts given to this end. Unfortunately, this must be privately done, so I will not be opening a “fund-me” or other account. This is, in my belief and experience, the last chance we have. And I am willing to be the test animal to get it going, to put in the full-time research, and to do it right with the right mentor and membership. Please contact me if you can contribute to that end. For more information on the PMA I have potentially chosen, after searching many, please go here:(<https://www.proadvocate.org/about/>) and watch this video:

Unfortunately, Karl died a few years ago.

Regardless of what happens, I intend on preserving my work in the form of books, somehow, some way. I hope to do it privately in my own private non-incorporated church/monastery.

That said, above all else, I am choosing sanity. I will not be erased, disappeared, or censored that easily. I've spent much of my life trying to find this privacy model, that is, finding the greatest open secret since the CAFR!

I am open to suggestions on the email/forum and open to anyone that wishes to help set it up. I will post on this blog when I get that list and/or forum going, and will send out an initial private email with all the addresses I have, and getting permission for future mailings.

Be sure to watch the lengthy must see Red Pill Sunday School coming in the next week or two. It's a deep dive like no other I've done, and will fill in many holes.

Again, I thank you for your continued support and viewership over the last decade. May we find the answer to our collective problem together, and soon!

All my love and friendship...

Clint is top notch-a great researcher. I have read a lot of his articles, especially the one about Public Private Partnerships, which is the biggest rort. The man's a treasure.

And just when some people think things couldn't get any worse, the U.N. steps in the game to reinforce and amplify online censorship, too. Of course, this shouldn't be surprising considering that the United Nations is owned and operated by the same psychopaths that own and operate all the major social media platforms and even introduced the internet via DARPA.

<http://annavonreitz.com/whatistheun.pdf> They own the BAR Association too, says Anna von. Why anyone would sign up to the UN is beyond me- unless you are a rat politician!!! Well said, Harry.

Of course they do. They've always owned America's legal system – and everything in between – since day one. They must always be in control of the game, because that guarantees their desired outcomes.

If you have a look at what Anna and her people have done you will see that she has restored the lawful state assemblies to reinstitute lawful government and courts in the entire country. the LEGAL system is privately owned-and by the Rothschilds- so who would want to go into one of their courts, given the Rs are never going to give anyone an even break? LAWFUL is Constitutional; and Common Law-based. You have too many punters like Mike Adams, Dave Hodges and others who-and Dave H especially-groan on about “the government” doing wrong, and saying they need to change their ways. Well, it is like Einstein's definition of insanity. The GOVERNMENT CORPORATION is only going to look after its own CORPORATE interests, not yours. So get with the program and join your State Assemblies, and get yourself permanently out of the clutches of the Federales. And this is from an Aussie, dammit!!! And I will even give you a link to the Assemblies website: <https://tasa.americanstatenationals.org/correct-your-status/>

Interesting. I don't know if Anna von Reitz's shtick is genuine, although I have been pretty familiar with her work for many years. In the end, I think the best option is for people to opt out the current system and create something new and better for themselves for those who want it.

The more I think about it, if I'm being frank, the more I think we need to separate ourselves completely from "it" altogether. Cut "it" off from our conscious and regain our spirit and appreciation for Nature. I imagine if they turn it off, a new dark ages will leave us with a completely fried history, a mix of Netflix shows with the News, and libraries full of nothing but old DVDs and children's books (which aren't much more intelligent than adult books). I think social media is an apple from the tree of useless concepts (false knowledge). But that's just me...

Hi Clint. Potentially, the reason your emails are being blocked when sending to multiple addresses is that DomainKey Identified Mail (DKIM) (or SPF) isn't set up yet. This is a relatively new standard which prevents email spoofing – and causes trouble for many with a mailing list.

Furthermore: How ironic is it, that the wild west which once was the decentralized internet is now unusable because everyone and their mother (literally) started trusting centralized big tech... I'd be willing to help you move the entire blog to an open-source, decentralized platform like LBRY (the protocol Odysee is built on). Those can't shut you down even if they wanted to.

I appreciate that... I will say this. If you are willing to spend the time and energy to reoccupy this blog elsewhere, I give you and anyone else full permission to do so, as long as no profit and gain is attached to the effort. The more repeats the merrier. In the future, I will be transferring to physical books as much of the blog and my other writings as I can, but I would never deny the research free to everyone.

As I don't have the time to take on such a project, again, feel free, and I will assist as needed with passwords or whatever.

Thanks,

And if you're curious, Clint, please read this article about the previous SARS Coronavirus outbreak in the early 2000s is very revealing. It basically shows the same dilemmas they had at the time that we have now, except that the first viral breakout in Asia was basically a test-run of the present scam that's plaguing the world. It even predicted that a devastating pandemic will happen in the near future (called the "Big One"), which sounds a lot like the SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) pandemic we're going through at the moment, indicating foreknowledge of what is now happening. It's the same twisted story played out over and over again.

https://www.bibliotecapleyades.net/ciencia/ciencia\_sars.htm

The only thing I seem to differ slightly is how the "Big One" was predicted to come about. I believe the massive culling forecasted in the above source is currently caused by the largest Coronavirus vaccine programs in today's world, as documented by the many reports of severe adverse reactions from the lethal jabs. Otherwise, its message very much syncs with the present reality that's facing us.

The more things change, the more things stay the same – because we're dealing with the same script writers.

I guess I'm a little baffled by this PMA stuff as if all these other private membership associations are working the UN agenda how does that help anything on the other side?

And this outfit here is about PMA's and they are assigning what is called a NAC Natural Area Code which I believe to be an international assignment and trafficking them in to International Jurisdiction?

The Earth Constitution and the Provisional World Parliament promote local grassroots empowerment of communities around the planet, protected and promoted by the global framework of unity in diversity provided by the Constitution and the enforceable world laws enacted by the World Parliament. Our conference has seen that Constitution provides a framework of 1000 world electoral districts that, in conjunction with the Global Peoples' Assemblies established by the Provisional World Parliament, can provide an organizing tool at the grassroots level everywhere on Earth.

DO YOU SEE THAT

Global Peoples' Assemblies
1000 points of light

Hmm 1000 world electoral districts in CONjunction with the GLOBAL PEOPLES ASSEMBLIES established by the Provisional World Parliament, can provide an organizing tool at the grassroots level everywhere on Earth.

Think there is a connection to the 1000 points of light ole Georgy boy spoke about in his speech?
